United Nations (UN) entities (funds and programmes, specialized agencies, offices and departments of the UN Secretariat, related organizations and peacekeeping and political missions in the field) are requested to report on their implementation of the UN Disability Inclusion Strategy. This reporting form will be used by UN entities to report performance on the Strategy's Entity Accountability Framework.

The Strategy was launched by the Secretary-General in June 2019 to raise the UN's performance on disability inclusion across the UN system. Reporting on its implementation will enable an assessment of the extent to which disability inclusion is mainstreamed within the Organization's work, spotlight good practice and identify key areas which may require development of staff knowledge and capacity, technical resources, and assistance.

Entity reports inform the Secretary-General’s report on system-wide implementation of the Strategy, which is prepared by the Disability Team in the Executive Office of the Secretary-General under the supervision of his Senior Adviser on Policy. The system-wide report is submitted annually to the General Assembly in its regular session.

The Entity Progress Report on the implementation of the UN Disability Inclusion Strategy must be submitted to the Executive Office of the Secretary-General (EOSG) via the online reporting platform. Entities may wish to use the excel form (available below), which follows the reporting platform structure, to undertake their self-assessment and upload the information to the platform once the information is collated.

Individual entity reports will not be published.

The UNAIDS secretariat provides political leadership for the global AIDS response. The role of the Executive Director to advocate for inclusion and for ensuring that no one is left behind is critical. At the end of 2019, Winnie Byanyima was appointed as the new Executive Director of UNAIDS. Her vision, as set out to the 45th meeting of the UNAIDS Programme Coordinating Board in December, focuses on the profound gaps in the HIV response. In her speech to the Board, she explicitly mentioned people with disabilities among those groups whose rights are being violated. During the course of the year, moreover, other senior officials advocated for inclusion. For example, in July, the Executive Director a.i. launched the Global AIDS update report 2019 which includes a section that highlights how people with disabilities are often left behind by HIV responses along with an example of a regional project in western and central Africa, aimed at making regional and national HIV laws, strategies and policies more inclusive of people with disabilities.

A disability audit was conducted to appraise the UNAIDS 2016-21 strategy and UNAIDS’ inclusion of disability using the UN Disability Inclusion Strategy Accountability Framework. The audit revealed that although the strategy explicitly addressed disability, nevertheless, many gaps remain in terms of disability inclusion both in national HIV programmes and across the work of UNAIDS, see: https://www.unaids.org/sites/default/files/20200804_Disability.pdf.

Please provide additional information on the following elements:

1. Additional information (i.e. opportunities and challenges in implementing the indicator) not included above.
2. Main reasons why your entity has been able to progress on disability inclusion or the main factors that have stalled progress for this indicator

1. Opportunity: Winnie Byanyima has put forward a transformative agenda for the HIV response and the UNAIDS Secretariat. Dedicated expertise is being deployed aimed at fostering a inclusive feminist culture with the UNAIDS Secretariat.

2. Challenge: Lack of available disaggregated data demonstrating the intersection between HIV and disability across regions is one reason why progress for this indicator is stalled.

The UNAIDS 2016–2021 Strategy - On the Fast-Track to End AIDS is a bold call to reach people being left behind. It explicitly sets out how HIV-related discrimination is interwoven with other forms of discrimination including based on disability. It explicitly addresses the plight of people with disabilities and their higher risk of HIV infection because of their vulnerability to violence, sexual abuse and stigma and discrimination, while often struggling to obtain meaningful service access. It calls for enhanced capacity-building support to significantly increase availability of high-quality, timely and reliable data disaggregated, inter alia, by disability. However, a disability audit of the strategy, last year, revealed that people with disabilities face barriers to services as a result of attitudinal, financial, physical, communication factors and that HIV prevention and treatment services are not adapted to the needs of the diverse persons with disabilities. UNAIDS is in the process of reviewing progress in the implementation of its strategy. This provides an opportunity to review progress in relation to disability inclusion in relation to relevant illustrative indicators such as the existence of laws and/or policies that present barriers to delivery of HIV prevention, testing and treatment services or accessibility to these services.

Please provide additional information on the following elements:

1. Additional information (i.e. opportunities and challenges in implementing the indicator) not included above.
2. Main reasons why your entity has been able to progress on disability inclusion or the main factors that have stalled progress for this indicator

1. Opportunity: Based on the review of the current UNAIDS 2016-2021 Strategy, strategic priorities beyond 2021 will be considered. This can provide an opportunity to strengthen disability inclusion.

2. Challenge: Lack of available disaggregated data demonstrating the intersection between HIV and disability across regions is one reason why progress for this indicator is stalled.

UNAIDS 2016-2021 Strategy stipulates: In all regions of the world, punitive laws, policies and practices continue to violate human rights and maintain structural conditions that leave populations without access to HIV services. HIV-related discrimination is often deeply interwoven with other forms of discrimination based on gender, sexual orientation and gender identity, race, disability, drug use, immigration status and being a sex worker, prisoner.

In the Resolution adopted by the UN General Assembly on 8 June 2016 - Political Declaration on HIV and AIDS: On the Fast Track to Accelerating the Fight against HIV and to Ending the AIDS Epidemic by 2030, it is said: Accelerate efforts to increase significantly the availability of high-quality, timely and reliable data, including on incidence and prevalence, disaggregated by income, sex, mode of transmission, age, race, ethnicity, migratory status, disability, marital status, geographic location and other characteristics relevant in national contexts.

Report on Disability and HIV: highlights existing key evidence on the relationship between disability and HIV. It discusses the concrete steps needed for a person-centred, disability-inclusive HIV response that allows for increased participation of people with disabilities and integrates rehabilitation within the continuum of HIV care.

All Staff Survey launched in November 2020 included a question on Disability among UNAIDS Staff.

Opportunities

As part of the UNDIS reporting, a working group of focal points (HQ and Field) was formally established with the mandate to bring suggestions for progress to UNAIDS Cabinet. The involvement of some 30 staff members can serve a new dynamism for mainstreaming disability inclusion across programmatic and operational workstreams.

Longtime and formal Focal Point on Disability in Community Support Department for programmatic issues and newly appointed Focal Point in Human Resources Department for operational issues.

Challenges

Mainstreaming disability inclusion is sometimes seen as an add on to staff members work and perceived as a competing priority. Consistently applying inclusive design principles and communicating about intersection of disability and HIV and disability, should help alleviate this perception.

Still some difficulties in operationalizing disability because it is linked with many areas and has no fully dedicated staff.

'To coordinate UNAIDS programmatic work on the intersection of disability and HIV, a formal focal point is part of the Community Support Department. This position is at the Senior Adviser level (P5). A senior assistant (G6) coordinates disability inclusion aspects at the Office of the Deputy Executive Director, Programme (ASG). A second focal point is based at the Regional Support Team in Dakar, Senegal (P5). Disability was included in the UNAIDS Geneva’s Focal point’s Performance Evaluation for 2019-2020. Since 2020, the Gender equality, diversity and inclusion focal point in the Human Resources Management Department is the designated coordinator for the UNDIS SWAP. This position covers disability inclusion in operations and is at the Adviser level (P4).

A network of focal points for the UNDIS SWAP has been established, supported by formal terms of reference. Focal points are nominated by their respective Department Directors. During the reporting, this network has been expanded to included focal points at regional and country offices. While disability inclusion is not part of the Job Description for other focal points, it may be captured as part of their performance appraisals which cannot be shared for confidentiality reasons.

2) Entity-wide guidelines for consultations are not yet available.
3) Many UNAIDS country offices hold close consultations with OPDs at national level on disability-related issues as well as broader issues.
4) In our consultations with people with disability, we take into account the diversity of the disabilities and put in place strategies to support their effective participation. For example we include translation facilities and even physical accessibility support.

Noting this response is for UNAIDS HQ office in Geneva only. Information on UNAIDS accessibility at HQ is collected in an ad hoc manner. UNAIDS HQ building is jointly owned with WHO and located on the WHO HQ campus. UNAIDS HQ premises was constructed in 2006 and adheres to local Swiss accessibility laws and regulations. There has not been a systematic assessment done of the accessibility of UNAIDS offices in Geneva.
Although there are projects to upgrade the HQ premises for sight impaired staff and visitors (braille map, audio guide system, upgrade restaurant service area), there is no tracking of upgrades. Most larger conferences, meetings and events are rarely held on site therefore UNAIDS is dependent on other entities. Nor has there been a systematic assessment of UNAIDS country offices (80+), the majority of which are located in UN common premises.

UNAIDS HQ premises in Geneva is jointly owned with WHO and is located on the WHO campus. Although a relatively new building, we are working with WHO to upgrade HQ conference accessibility, including the installation of a braille site map (Q1 2021), an audio guide system to allow site impaired staff and visitors to find their way independently around the building (Q1 2021), floor guidelines for visually impaired visitors (Q2 2021), and modifications to the restaurant to facilitate wheel chair access to the food service area (completed).

UNAIDS establishes guidelines on the accessibility of its conference and advocates for better accessibility of for conferences it supports e.g., International AIDS Society (Q4 2021)

The WHO Policy on the Employment of Persons with Disabilities (issued in August 2010) applies. It includes in paragraphs 14-16 relevant provisions on reasonable accommodation for employees. The policy includes a provision for visitors and meeting participants (para. 26). The policy indicates that the Health and Medical Service should determine nature and extent of the accommodation required. Approval or denial rests with the hiring manager or the supervisor respectively. Confidentiality is respected (para. 31). A monitoring mechanism is included (para. 28-30) yet still to be followed at UNAIDS. Paragraph 27 commits to periodic information dissemination, awareness raising and learning activities and complementary communication strategies. The policy is not systematically implemented and an assessment of it has not been done. An accountability framework for responding to requests for reasonable accommodation at UNAIDS... should be established.
The policy does not include an (adequate) funding mechanism.

UNAIDS follows the UN Evaluation Group’s norms and standards.

The UNAIDS Evaluation Policy (para 25) states that “Evaluation is guided by the people-centered approach of UNAIDS, which enhances capabilities, choices and rights for all people, with full respect for diversity. (...) The universally recognized values and principles of human rights and gender equality need to be integrated into all stages of an evaluation. It is the responsibility of evaluators and evaluation managers to ensure that these values are respected, addressed and promoted, underpinning the commitment to the principle of "no-one left behind". UNAIDS follows UNEG guidance on the conduct of human rights and gender-responsive evaluations (see UNEG Human Rights and Gender Equality guidance). Additionally, UNAIDS has customized the UNEG Human Rights Guidance to HIV response needs. The UNAIDS guidance on Human Rights in evaluation reiterates the concept of no one left behind, and provides one example, under the indicators sections, of looking into discrimination due to disability status.

If your entity has not approached requirements for an indicator, please select 'missing'. If the indicator is not applicable to your entity, please select 'not applicable'.
In 2021 update and include a section on disability in 'Integrating Human Rights and Gender Equality into UNAIDS Evaluations' internal guidance – to make requirements more explicit for future evaluations. More efforts are needed to explicitly consider disability issues in the design and implementation of UNAIDS evaluations. This will be based on UNAIDS goals and ongoing work on disability (a person-centered, disability-inclusive HIV response that allows for increased participation of people with disabilities) and also considering case-by-case evaluation relevance. In the context of human rights and ensuring that no one is left behind, needs related to disability should be given specific attention from the onset of evaluations. As per UNEG Norms and Standards, evaluation data should be disaggregated by different criteria, including disability, where relevant.

Please provide additional information on the following elements:

1. Additional information (i.e. opportunities and challenges in implementing the indicator) not included above.
2. Main reasons why your entity has been able to progress on disability inclusion or the main factors that have stalled progress for this indicator

The Independent Evaluation Office in UNAIDS was established as a structurally and functionally independent unit in 2019. The number of evaluations is growing - as shown in the UNAIDS 2020-2021 Evaluation Plan and report. 2020 and 2021 evaluations - for instance on data use, violence against women and girls (VAWG) and key populations - have some scope for analysis of disability inclusion. The VAWG evaluation, in particular, highlights that women will be considered in all their diversity, including disability status (the challenge is lack of disaggregated data at the country level for the Joint Programme (UNAIDS Secretariat and Cosponsor Agencies).

In 2019-20 UNAIDS actively participated and contributed to the development of the United Nations Disability Inclusion Strategy (UNDIS) to address the UN system policy, action plan and accountability framework to strengthen system-wide accessibility and mainstreaming of the rights of persons with disabilities. The interagency principles and guidelines for UN entities highlighted in the UNDIS contain policy, accountability framework and implementation modalities on disability inclusion that will drive capacity building initiatives at UNAIDS.

Kindly note that the UNDIS working group ended in 2019 with the launch of the Strategy, while reporting should be focused on 1 January - 31 December 2020.

If UNAIDS actively participated in the UNDIS focal point network during the reporting timeframe, we agree with the rating of ‘approaches requirements’. Otherwise, the recommended rating is ‘missing’.

A Global staff survey was launched in November 2020 to identify workplace priorities that require attention. Staff were asked to respond to the question- Do you consider yourself to have a disability? Yes/No. The purpose was to identify unique areas of concern and challenges that the target group might be currently experiencing at UNAIDS.

An MOU was signed in October 2019 between UNAIDS and Handicap International Federation (HI) to provide high quality services that support strengthening a culture where UNAIDS staff members with disability are treated with respect and sensitivity and to promote inclusive and sensitive behaviours towards the most vulnerable population that UNAIDS is mandated to serve in achieving universal access to HIV prevention, treatment, care and support. Data/reports from the Global staff survey will be used to define capacity building activities and trainings to strengthen staff competencies and skills to build greater sensitivity. The development of the capacity building framework for staff will commence in 2021/22.

Capacity building initiatives are usually resource intensive and would require collaboration, expertise and services by external partners. This raises the risk of funding availability and staff resources to drive UNDIS and in particular developmental interventions at UNAIDS.

UNAIDS terminology guidelines ensure that internal and external communication are respectful of persons with disabilities. Persons with disabilities are reflected in mainstream communications: for example, most flagship publications have a section on persons with disabilities. Care is taken to reflect the diversity of the population of persons with disabilities in our publications and intersectionality issues are also considered.

Please provide additional information on the following elements:

Since the focus of Comms' work over the past year has been the colliding HIV/COVID-19 pandemics, work on disability issues has unfortunately not been as prominent as hoped. We hope to rectify this in PART A: OVERALL SUMMARY OF ACHIEVEMENTS, OPPORTUNITIES AND CHALLENGES

Please use this space to provide any additional information on overall achievements, as well as any opportunities and/or challenges your entity has faced in relation to the implementation of the UN Disability Inclusion Strategy.

* Please share overall achievements here: (Required)

Disability is an important theme for UNAIDS. It cuts across all UNAIDS and Joint Team work. People with disabilities are cross section of UNAIDS staff, people living with HIV and key populations.

- All Staff Survey launched in November 2020 included questions on Disability among UNAIDS Staff for the first time.
- In our consultations with people with disability, we take into account the diversity of the disabilities and put in place strategies to support their effective participation. For example we included translation facilities and physical accessibility support.
  At HQ, we have a sensory platform to help people with visual problems to find their way in the organization premises.

* Please share opportunities/challenges here: (Required)

Opportunities
- New UNAIDS Strategy 2021-2026 is accessible to people with disabilities, for example develop audio version and disability accessible text.
- Conduct UNAIDS wide disability inclusion training (to make our recruitment, management processes, programmatic processes disability sensitive. E.g. have human Resources encourage people living with Disability to apply in each UNAIDS Vacancy notice. Propose to Senior Management to have Business Cards in braille and other visibility accessible format)
- Develop a UNAIDS wide disability inclusive workplan.

Now that we have reporting on disability underway with focal points in regions and countries, we need to move to implementation of disability inclusive programming:
- Still some difficulties in operationalizing disability because it is linked with many areas and has no fully dedicated staff.
- Need for a dedicated team to move forward the UNAIDS wide disability programming, at least in the next first few years.

PART B: SUMMARY OF DISABILITY-INCLUSIVE ACTIONS UNDERTAKEN AND PLANNED RELATED TO COVID-19 IN 2020

Please use this space to provide information on disability-inclusive actions related to COVID-19, as well as any actions planned.

* Please share actions already undertaken here: (Required)

- UNAIDS is actively involved in the Humanitarian Cluster and the Inter Cluster Coordination Group (ICCG) where priorities for vulnerable categories of the population are discussed and PWD have been included on matters of rights and access to health services during the COVID 19 epidemic (Zimbabwe).
- During the mandatory working from home, UNAIDS has facilitated moving special office equipment such as ergonomic chairs and height-adjustable desks to staff members' homes where feasible.
- Programmatically UNAIDS has included Disability in its COVID-19 monitoring tools, shared statements on COVID-19 and Disability from the UN Special Envoy on Disability and the UN Special Rapporteur on Disability. It has further developed an implementation mechanism of its MoU with Humanity Inclusion and showcased data on HIV and Disability on its website and social media platforms.
